QUARANTINE REGULATIONS.

Will Become Effective at This Point Feb. 8.

As published in the HERALD some time ago a government quarantine station will be established at Juarez to guard against contagious diseases being brought into this country.

The quarantine will become effective February 8 and on and after that date no one will be allowed to enter from Mexico at this port without vaccination or evidence of having had smallpox. Baggage, etc., will be fumigated.

Drs. Race and Yandell will issue certificates of vaccination to those entitled to them.

Persons not qualified as set forth in the foregoing will be detained at quarantine until successfully vaccinated. It is deemed advisable that all parties who cross the border here take the necessary precautions to get back without inconvenience as loss of time, for the quarantine regulations will be rigidly enforced.

Theory No Good.

Richard Keays says he don't believe in the war spirit worth a cent.

It has been contended by many writers that most of the babies who see the light soon after the country has been at war are boys. Keays is not a bit downcast, however, because his new baby is a fine girl. He says he is partial to girls any way. The little one weighs 8½ pounds and arrived yesterday afternoon.

Samples of Copper Ore.

S. O. Smith has recently sent some fine specimens of copper ore to C. B. James of this city. Agents of the Silver City smelter, to be assayed.

Smith owns a copper mine in the Jarillas and recently struck another lead of copper ore and wants to ascertain from the assayer's report if the ore is of sufficient value to be shipped.

A Modest Youth.

"I'd like to tell you," answered Bobby, modestly. "Only papa says I must not boast."—Harper's Bazaar.

POLICE COURT.

Three Stubborn Men On Bread and Water Because They Refuse to Work—Other Matters.

Yesterday at noon there were three men locked up in the city jail charged with vagrancy. They were told they would have to work and they declared that they would not. They were informed that nothing but bread and water was given men who would not work and they said they would rather live on that than work and that's what they are doing at the present writing. They are in for ten days and unless they go out and work with the chain gang they will be given no substantial food.

Freight Agent McCarthy, of the G. H. telephoned to police headquarters this morning and complained that there were a crowd of hoboes at the Stock Pens east of the shops and that they had turned on the water allowed it to run long enough to flood that end of town jailer blacker jumped on his wheel and went to that point where he found two men and locked them up. One of them was loaded with pathetic tales and told the officer how he became stranded in California and that he was trying to get back sick folks in Michigan. The officer listened to history and then told him he would have to tell the chief all about it.

There were only two cases in police court this morning and both cases were dismissed. One case against Theo. L. Collier for being drunk was thrown out and a charge of vagrancy against Henry Smith who was locked up by Taylor, was dismissed.

A Contradiction.

Some days ago the HERALD and the morning paper published the statement of E. E. Banner of New Mexico to the effect that he had been in Mexico and had there seen Oliver Lee to whom he took a number of horses. When Banner got to Cruces he saw fit to deny this story.

The HERALD's informant now makes the following signed statement: "E. E. Banner, who was in El Paso last week, told me and a half dozen other people that he met Oliver Lee in Mexico and that he took some horses down there to Lee."

A CULTURED WOMAN.

The New Member in the American Board of Foreign Missions.

Miss Margaret J. Evans of Minnesota, recently elected to membership in the American board of foreign missions, is one of the most cultured women in America. She is the first woman to be thus honored by the board in the 90 years of its existence. Miss Evans is the lady principal of Carleton college, Minnesota. She is thoroughly traveled and has the happy faculty of remembering what she sees. She has spent most of her life in Minnesota. At Winona she received her academic education. Then she entered Lawrence university at Appleton, Wis. After her graduation she went to the seminary at Fox Lake in the capacity of teacher. Her next position was that of tutor in German, Latin and Greek in the university from which she had been lately graduated. Her present forte is English literature, in the pursuit of which she has made several pilgrimages abroad, visiting libraries, the homes and association places of great poets and authors and adding much to her knowledge of the history of literature. She has studied at Oxford, Berlin and Heidelberg and is well fitted for her present important post. The board of missions in making her one of its members recognizes the work she has done in her 15 years' service as president of the woman's board of missions for the interior.

MISS MARGARET J. EVANS.

Honiton Lace. There is talk of a possible revival of the lace industry at Honiton. All genuine Honiton lace is handmade and the introduction of lacemaking machinery to Nottingham was the signal for the gradual diminution in the demand for handmade lace. Now, however, the real old Honiton is becoming the vogue, hence the new prospect. The queen has recently bought some lace in Honiton and the neighborhood, and this lace has also made its appearance upon several dresses worn this season at the drawing rooms. Many Devonshire ladies are showing a praiseworthy enthusiasm as regards this feminine industry of their county.—London Sun.

Ill luck seems to follow Prince Chima, whose wife (formerly Clara Ward, of Detroit) eloped with the Hungarian fiddler, Rigo. While hunting at an English country place shortly after Christmas he was thrown from his horse and had several ribs broken, besides sustaining other injuries. He is still under the care of a physician.

JURY FAILED TO AGREE.

McClane Damage Suit Resulted in A Mistrial.

The jury in the McClane damage suit, after being out twenty-four hours, failed to agree and was discharged.

The suit was brought by Aletha McClane to recover $25,000 damages from the T. & P. road for the loss of her husband, who was an engineer in charge of a train which was wrecked in 1897.

There are two other damage suits pending by reason of the same wreck, one brought by the heirs of the fireman, who was killed, and the other by the head brakeman who was injured.

The wreck occurred at night and was caused by a drove of cattle getting on the track. The engine overturned because, it is alleged, of the rottenness of the cross ties at that point.

The suit of E. Kohlberg against E. A. Stuart is still on trial in the district court.

Broke His Arm.

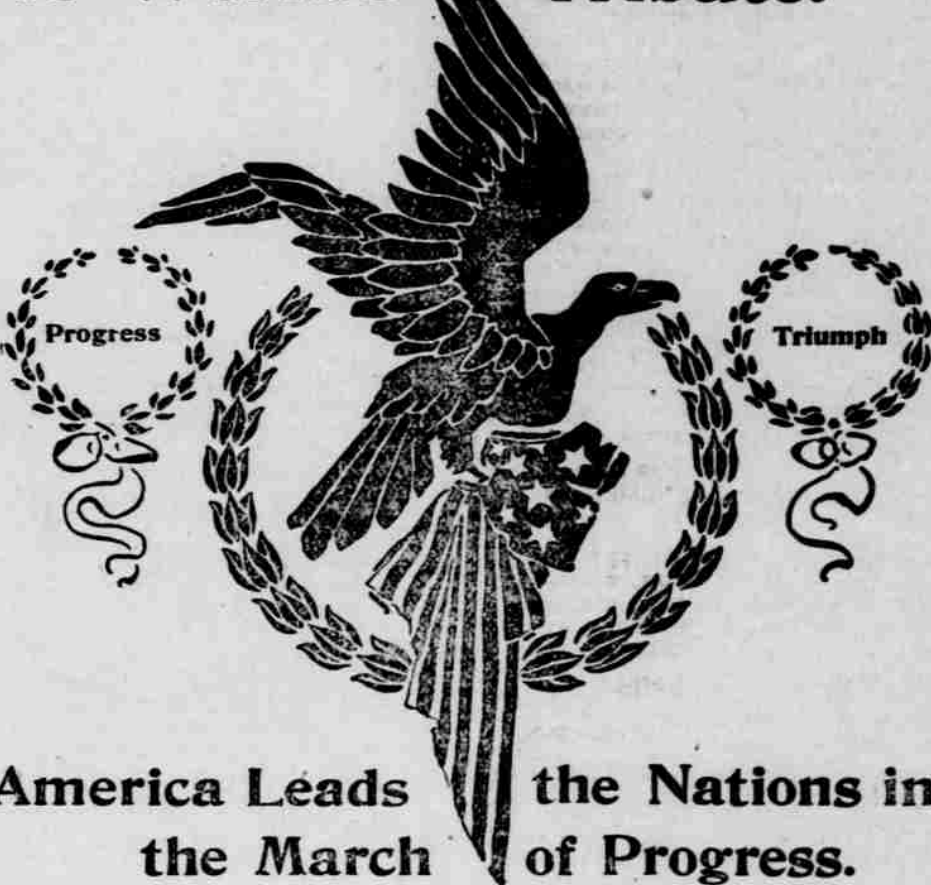

Horace Stevens, the seven year old son of Horace B. Stevens, was riding down the hill below his residence this morning when in some manner he fell from his wheel and broke his left arm between the elbow and wrist. The fracture is a particularly painful one, and the boy will have to stay in bed for some time. Drs. Higgins and Wright set the arm, and the little fellow is getting along bravely.

Plumber's Fight.

On January 19 John Hardin and C. W. Fraser, two plumbers, had a fight in which Fraser was decidedly worsted. He was knocked down and choked into insensibility.

Today Hardin is being tried before Justice Ellis on the charge of aggravated assault and at the time of going to press the case is in the hands of the jury.

A World's Tribute.

America Leads the Nations in the March of Progress.

Among the wonders of the World's Columbian Fair the grandest was the exhibit of American products. The Exhibition was, in this respect, an object lesson of the grandeur and glory of the Republic. Among the exhibits from the United States no article of its class stood so high as

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder.

The Chief Chemist of the Agricultural department at Washington, backed by an intelligent jury at the Exposition, found it strongest in leavening power, peerless in its purity and beyond comparison in uniform excellence.

Received Highest Award At the World's Fair.

The award is a matter of official record.

Nothing could settle so decisively the immeasurable superiority of Dr. Price's over all other powders as the great honor bestowed at Chicago.

Charley—Because you told me so all take my brother's part.—The Cigarette.

In referring to the proposed removal of the bones of the poet Keats from Rome to Westminster Abbey, the literary reviewer of the New York Press says: The municipal government of Rome wants to straighten a road which, being done, would necessitate the removal of Keats' grave, Keats is buried in the Protestant cemetery of Rome by the side of his friend Severn, the artist. Shelley's grave is in this same cemetery, but some distance from the grave of Keats. By the side of Shelley is buried Captain Trevelyan.

A NOTED GEOLOGIST

Who First Discovered Copper in the Lake Superior District.

Prof. Cumming Cherry, Sr., the noted geologist whose death has just been announced from Chicago, was the discoverer of the first traces of copper in the rich Lake Superior district. He was also, says the Buffalo Express, distinguished as the inventor of a process of making oil from so-called stone coal.

Prof. Cherry was born in Strathaven, Scotland, in 1815, and came to this country in 1838. He went to Pittsburgh at once and there engaged in business. Prof. Cherry was a constant student of geology and in 1844 was sent into the west to take charge of the interests of a Pittsburgh and Boston mining company. He traversed the copper regions along the greatest of the Great Lakes. His acute knowledge of strata, rock formation, almost intuitive, with the slightest sign of mineral wealth, hidden though it be, led him to pronounce the Lake Superior country one of vast possibilities. In a short time he opened the Cliff, Northwestern, Hancock and Pewabic mine.

Prof. Cherry's discoveries had attracted the attention of the Hudson Bay company and that organization at once engaged the services of the young man to examine its territory and report on the mineral resources. This resulted in the development of several mines. While acting for this company, Prof. Cherry crossed the continent to Puget Sound and then went south to California, where he erected the first quartz mill in that state.

He continued his southern journey and visited Mexico, Central America and various South American countries, always on the look out for mineral deposits. On this trip he obtained possession of 50,000 acres of land in Sonora, Mexico, which he still owned at the time of his death. In 1863 Prof. Cherry took charge of the famous Comstock lode in Virginia City, Nev. He remained in this position for three years and then went to Chicago, where he has since lived.

A Generous Gift.

Just as we go to press word reaches us that Mrs. W. C. Hadley has offered the University of New Mexico $10,000 for a Walter C. Hadley memorial science hall. We understand the gift is conditioned upon a suitable response by the people of the territory in general and the city of Albuquerque in particular.

The proposition involves the equipment of a special research department for the study of climatic conditions on the Rocky mountain plateau, the detailed investigation of the bacteriological, chemical, physical and physiological problem involved in the narrative character of the climate. The study of disease germs, blood, bacteria of air, water and soil will be carried on in co-operation with the National Climatological association.

The cost of building and equipments will be $20,000, and since Mrs. Hadley has so generously given half of the amount, it is hoped and believed that our people will gladly furnish the other half, and so secure for the university this much needed addition.—The Mirage, published by university students.

No Getting Around It.

"Yes, he made his first lucky strike in eggs. He bought 10,000 dozen at a low figure, put them in cold storage, and sold them at a profit of more than 200 per cent. The war was the cornerstone of his enormous fortune."

"And he has laid it. How strange!"—Chicago Tribune.

To Whom It May Concern.

On and after the 8th day of February, 1899, until otherwise advised, no one will be allowed to enter the United States from Mexico at the port of El Paso without vaccination unless they are protected by a previous attack of the disease or a recent successful vaccination. Certificates of vaccination free of any charge will be issued by Drs. Race and Yandell and the undersigned.
